★ NOTE: DO NOT CALL RECIPIENT(S) YET!

Herald: A brave and courteous people, Cynaguans hold gallantry in esteem as high as the swan can fly. Though many Cynaguans strive for this virtue, there are some who display uncommon gallantry by their thoughtfulness and courage. The Coronet wishes to recognize one individual who is most gallant. Let _____ come now before Their Highnesses.

(The named individual comes forward and kneels before Their Highnesses.)

 Prince: In you, _____ we are well pleased for you have been an example of gallantry by virtue of _____. (His Highness extols the recipient's gallantry by citing specific examples.)

 Princess: (The Princess places the Circlet of Gallantry on the head of the recipient.)

Let all know by this circlet that you are worthy of great praise. You are an example of a great and noble spirit. (Her Highness should likewise add comments here.)

Herald: For _____, recipient of the Circlet of Gallantry, Hip, hip!

 Prince: You have Our leave to depart.
